

Sexual Health Equity for Individuals with Intellectual/Developmental Disabilities (SHEIDD) Project

Do you have a young person experiencing intellectual/developmental disability (I/DD) in your life?

Join us for a free training on April 30th!

Team Work:
Working Together to Support the Sexual Health of Youth Experiencing Intellectual/Developmental Disabilities

What: We all have a role in supporting the sexual health of youth experiencing I/DD! This introductory training will provide a foundation to help teams build comfort, confidence and skill in supporting the sexual health of young people experiencing I/DD by providing rights-based, person-centered and holistic sexual health education. Participants of this introductory training will have opportunities to attend advanced workshops in the future.

Who: This training is designed for people who work to support young people (ages 14-21) experiencing I/DD in the Tri-County area. These supporters could be family members, friends, caregivers, support service providers or coordinators, teachers, healthcare providers, etc. Participants are strongly encouraged to attend with another member of a support team. Teams will receive priority at registration!

When: Tuesday, April 30th from 9:00-4:30

Where: Oregon Department of Human Services Training Center
11826 NE Glisan St
Portland, OR 97220

Lunch provided!

Register: We ask each team member to register by filling out this online registration form: <https://tinyurl.com/y3zlr39w>

Questions? Contact April Kayser by email at april.kayser@multco.us or by phone/text at (971) 801-5121

This opportunity is made possible by Grant Number TP2AH000046 from the HHS Office of Adolescent Health as part of the Innovative Teen Pregnancy Prevention (iTP3) project. Contents are solely the responsibility of Multnomah County Health Department and do not necessarily represent the official views of the Department of Health and Human Services, the Office of Adolescent Health, or Texas A&M University.